FIFTY POISONED AT FAIR.

HEAVY RAINS IN NORTHWEST.

A Deluge in Minnesota and Snow in North Dakota Will Damage Grain Thousands of Dollars.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—One of the heaviest rain storms in recent years raged in St. Paul and generally throughout the state late Friday night, the official rainfall in this city being five inches for the 12 hours between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m. Many basements were flooded, and street car service was much impeded by sand washing on the track.

Reports show that Friday night's rain storm extended from Ellray Wis., to Sioux City, Ia., and that damage to grain will be extensive. In some parts of this state it is impossible to move threshing machines or haul grain. The result will be that many acres of grain and flax in shock will be damaged, if not totally ruined, causing a loss of many thousands of dollars. Nearly all railroads entering St. Paul report more or less minor damage. From North Dakota points reports come of snow on the ground, and at Granville two inches has fallen.

A dispatch from New Ulm, Minn., reports four inches of rain in that vicinity Friday night. The Cottonwood river is out of its banks, and the Bensie bridge has been washed away.

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL AT TOLEDO, O.

It Was Unveiled With Due Ceremony In the Presence of a Large Audience.

SENATOR FAIRBANKS, OF INDIANA, DELIVERED ORATION.

Second Anniversary of the Death of the Late President Not Observed With any Set Programme at Canton, O.—Floral Tokens From Friends and Strangers.

Toledo, Sept. 15.—Toledo was en fête Monday over the unveiling of the McKinley statue, the first memorial to the late president erected in Ohio. After a naval parade on the river, including the United States gunboat Michigan and the training ships Yantic and Hawk, and a procession led by a battalion of United States infantry, the statue which stands fronting the courthouse, was unveiled by Miss Dorothy Bonner. Col. J. C. Bonner, president of the Memorial association, in a brief address, presented the monument to the county, and Henry Conrad, president of the board of county commissioners, accepted the trust on the part of the county. Senator M. A. Hanna was then introduced as honorary president of the day, and made a brief extempore address. A dedicatory poem by Theodore McManus was read by the author and the orator of the day, Senator Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, was introduced. The senator said:

"The place of Wm. McKinley in history is secure. We are not too near the events of which he was a part, correctly to measure his proportions, nor do we look with too partial eyes upon what he did. We know the great share he bore in the significant events through which he passed, and we have faith to believe that the judgment of his contemporaries will be confirmed by history, when with impartial hand she shall record the deeds of men."

"You honor yourselves in honoring him. You make the future your debtor by erecting this statue in commemoration of his life and services, for, like his immortal prototype, Abraham Lincoln, he 'belongs to the ages.' Hither the lovers of America institutions will come in the unnumbered years before us and derive new hope and new inspiration. Similar monuments will rise in other lands to which peoples not of our race will pay their homage. The people of Cuba, whose liberty was secured through his genius and statesmanship, will erect monuments in his honor. So also the people of Porto Rico and the far-off Philippines will raise enduring memorials to perpetuate to the furthest ages the memory of the president who carried them the blessings of republican government. It seems but yesterday that William McKinley stood among us, at the very zenith of his power. He possessed in full degree the affections and confidence of his countrymen, and his name was a beneficent influence throughout the world. Without warning, the cruel blow fell. We stood speechless in the midst of the uncommon sorrow. Our great and beloved leader, by some mysterious providence, fell in the plenitude of his strength."

"Upon the day of his sepulture rulers and people of many lands held memorial services, and all nations were in mourning. Throughout the great republic busy trade stood still, the telegraph was silent, and as by some common impulse, steamships and railroad trains stopped, and the people uncovered in the streets or knelt in the sanctuaries. Who knows but that the divine Master, through this unspeakable tragedy, sought to imprint forever upon human heart how splendidly the just and brave can live, and how beautifully they can die. Against the dark background of two years ago stand in sharper outline than were otherwise possible, the higher and nobler achievements and the majestic personality of one of the greatest of Americans."

After the singing of "America" by the audience, Rev. A. M. Hyde pronounced the benediction, which closed the services.

Demand the Withdrawal of Troops From Manchuria on the Date Fixed a Year Ago.

London, Sept. 15.—Japan and Great Britain have exchanged views on the latest demands made by Russia on China, and they decided to protest separately to the Pekin government against their acceptance. In case this should prove fruitless and Russia continues her occupation of Manchuria, Japan proposes to break off the negotiations with Russia for a definition of their respective rights in Manchuria and Corea and to demand of the St. Petersburg government that it order the evacuation of Chinese territory. "We can not permit the postponement of the evacuation," said the Japanese authority, for Russia would utilize the additional time to strengthen her fleet and army in the far east. Already her naval tonnage there is equal to ours. Public sentiment in Japan is deeply stirred by Russia's failure to carry out her promises to evacuate Manchuria and demands the withdrawal of her troops on the date fixed a year ago.
